

QUAKERS FLAMING WITH ENTHUSIASM FOR GOV. WILSON

Independent Republicans Pay Tribute to the Nominee.

NO MENTION OF ROOSEVELT

Governor Declines to Discuss the Colonel—Meeting Was Arranged by Progressive Republicans.

Philadelphia, October 28.—A tremendous crowd greeted Governor Wilson in the Academy of Music here tonight. The meeting was arranged and held under the auspices of the League of Independent Republicans. Gilbert E. Ros, a former law partner and brother-in-law of Senator La Follette, and Rudolph Spreckels, of California, organizer of the Wilson National Progressive Republican league, presided. Governor Wilson with speeches in his favor.

The only question before the country, said the governor, "is, do you trust men who are now leading the democratic party? If you believe they are the enemies of legitimate business, don't vote for them. If you believe they are wild-eyed reformers, who don't know the course of change in this country, don't vote for them. If you believe they are inexperienced tyrants who don't know right from wrong, don't vote for them. But vote as you believe, and as you trust. And if you see anyone promise the things which you think can be done, vote that way. I am not here as a partisan. If there is somebody else who can and will do the job—

Refuses to Discuss Roosevelt.

Cries of "Wilson, Wilson," interrupted the governor's speech, and when the demonstration subsided a man called out, "How about Roosevelt?" "I have denied myself the pleasure of discussing Mr. Roosevelt this week," answered the governor. "I am on the platform in this closing week in this campaign to discuss the issues and not the persons."

Once during the governor's speech, somebody asked, "How about the referendum?" and the governor promptly replied: "Pennsylvania should take care of that; it is not a national question, but let me tell the gentleman who mentioned it, that there have been times at Harrisburg when no legislature was so sorely in need of having its acts referred to the people, as the capital of Pennsylvania."

An outburst of cheers greeted this remark. The governor declared that, without a merchant marine, other nations would benefit more by the opening of the Panama canal than the United States. The nominee then addressed a great crowd that cheered the governor enthusiastically. The nominee argued in his speech that the wages of the country were not dependent upon the tariff.

"There is only one way for a panic to occur in the United States," said the governor, "and that is by the small number of men who control industry deliberately creating one. We know the list of those men and we know who will be responsible. The democrats do not want free trade. The only thing the democrats are out to bag is those special private interests, which he hidden in the protective system and which the general body of American working men are not permitted to share. America pays higher wages than free-trade England. England pays just as much higher wages than Germany, which is protected. Now what has protection got to do with higher wages than the rest of the world ever since before she was separated from England, but American workingmen could earn more wages in proportion as he was skillful. The cost of labor is a determination of the skill and capacity of the worker, and not of its economic disadvantages."

The governor declared that corporations "such as the United States Steel corporation" has been the chief enemies of organized labor in keeping wages down. "I don't want to use my mind to govern yours," added the governor. "I want to use my mind to save yours. Throughout this campaign I have insisted that there is no personal question involved. It is not a comparison of persons, but of purposes, of conceptions and of programs."

The nominee said obstacles to freedom of enterprise and the destruction of monopoly of business are the chief enemies of the federal law against those who held private monopoly.

REACHING FOR "SUNNY HIM"

Vice President Sherman Is Reported Steadily Failing. Conjectural How Much Longer He Can Withstand the Ravages of the Disease.

Utica, N. Y., October 28.—James S. Sherman, vice president of the United States, is seriously ill and steadily failing, it is here reported. While his physician, Dr. Fayette H. Peck, believes there is no immediate danger of death, yet the distinguished patient's condition is such that it is a matter of conjecture how much longer he can withstand the ravages of the disease with which he is afflicted. Dr. Peck, at 8 o'clock tonight, authorized this statement regarding Mr. Sherman's illness and his present condition.

"Mr. Sherman has been sick all of the week, the condition of the kidneys, hardening of the arteries and softening of the muscles of the heart, which is somewhat stretched. Mr. Sherman had a stroke in the Adirondacks in June, and I expected him to die. He improved steadily and very satisfactorily until the latter part of August. Since then his condition has been aggravated and he has steadily been failing."

"For the last three weeks, since he came back from Connecticut, he has dressed once, and a week ago Friday, when, against my protest, he went out to the polls to register. Mr. Sherman is now in the condition which that sort of trouble leads to, and is very seriously ill, but there is, I believe, no immediate danger of death."

After a day of discouraging symptoms Mr. Sherman rallied at nightfall and continued to show improvement during the evening. This is due in no small measure to powerful medicines. Whether he can much longer combat the trouble of his kidneys and complications is a matter of grave doubt. Members of his family are with him constantly, and his intimate friends have been notified that he has been failing steadily.

Should Sherman Die.

Washington, October 28.—The illness of Vice President Sherman and speculation over possibilities of his withdrawal from the republican ticket because of the precarious condition of his health, aroused discussion here today over what methods would be taken of filling his place if necessary. The general opinion expressed was that the republican nation has no power or the executive committee possessed power to fill a vacancy upon the ticket. Should a vacancy occur upon the republican ticket either before or after the election, the republican leaders today argued the electors would have power to vote for any candidate for vice president they might choose.

ORDINARILY SHOULD THERE BE NO VICE PRESIDENT.

The president pro tem. of the senate would preside over that body, and the line of succession to the presidency would be to the secretary of state. For the last several months, however, the present senate had been unable to agree upon a president pro tem, and that office had been vacant.

AUTO COMMITTEE PLANS PROGRAM

"Georgia Night," and "Greater Atlanta Night" Arranged for Show.

The show committee in charge of the Atlanta auto show, which will be held in the Auditorium, November 16 to 23, has turned its attention to the program, which will be one of the attractive features of the event. The committee, aside from giving wholesome attention to the decorations and lighting features, is devoting considerable time to arranging for entertainments for all classes. The committee has had under consideration a suggestion to set aside one night to be known as "Georgia night," and another night to be known as "Greater Atlanta night," with the idea in view of having every city and state official in attendance.

The first night of the show will be the night of the show. Everybody in Atlanta who is interested in automobiles will be there. President Hanson of the Atlanta Auto and Accessory association, will probably deliver the opening address. Governor Joseph M. Brown and Governor-elect John M. Slaton and other distinguished officials will be present at the opening.

The committee will have an interesting announcement to make as to the program within a few days, including a list of tours to Atlanta, in addition to the Appalachian tour.

IVY STREET WILL BE REPAVED AND REGRADED IN SYSTEMATIC WAY; PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANIES AND CITY DEPARTMENTS TO RUSH WORK

PROFILE OF IVY STREET SHOWING THE CUTS AND FILLS FOR THE NEW GRADE. The chief of construction has sent copies of the profile to all the city departments and public utility corporations interested, asking them to report to him what work is to be done and how long it will take to do it. The reports will be filed in a few days, as the regrading of Ivy street will begin when Peachtree is finished. The mapping out of the work will bring about such co-ordination and co-operation as will prevent any bungling and delay as was the case with Peachtree street. The figures on the profile show the number of feet where cuts and fills will be made on the street.

Improvement of Ivy street is to be done under a carefully mapped-out program, and there will be no unnecessary delay, such as characterized the work which was done on Peachtree street between Harris and Baker streets.

The chief of construction has sent out profiles to all the interested public utility corporations and city departments with requests that estimates be made out and sent to him as soon as possible, stating what work was to be done, and how long a time would be taken in doing it.

No Bumping and No Delay.

This means that Ivy street will be regraded and repaved in a systematic way, with no bumping or loss of time, and the street will not be blocked to travel a day longer than is absolutely necessary.

When the work on Peachtree is finished the county will start on Ivy street. The first thing to be done will be the taking up of the old pavement and the sidewalk paving and curb. Next, the county convicts will begin the regrading, making cuts and fills, as are shown on the accompanying profile furnished by the chief of construction. Then the Georgia Railway and Power company will take up its tracks and prepare to relay them on the new grade.

The Atlanta Gas Light company will take up its gas main and relay it to suit the new grade.

The waterworks department will take up and relay its water main. The Georgia Railway and Power company will have very little to do in the way of laying a conduit, as the electrically on Ivy street is furnished through the cross streets with the exception of one block, between Edgewood avenue and Houston street.

The Atlanta Steam Heating company has already laid its conduit low enough to suit the proposed new grade, so that company will not disturb the street but very little.

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company will lay its conduit after the gas and water mains have been taken up.

What Corporation Officials Say.

Speaking for the Georgia Railway and Power company, William H. Glenn said: "We will be ready to take up the tracks and replace them just as soon as we are notified that the street is ready for us. We will be ready to take up the tracks just as fast as men can do it. We have Captain Clayton's profile, and are now getting ready to do our part of the work."

George W. Brine, president of the Atlanta Gas Light company, said: "We have received the city's profile of Ivy street, and are making the necessary preparations to be ready for what we will have to do. Just how we will furnish our patrons with gas along the street when we are taking up the main, we have not yet decided upon; but we will be ready at the proper time. We may have to lay a temporary surface pipe. We have already laid our steam-heating conduit low enough for the new grade. We look time by the forelock and laid the conduit deep enough to be under ground a sufficient depth when the street grade is cut down. Where there are fills, all we will have to do is to make our manholes higher."

Says Co-Operation Will Prevent Delay.

H. O. Reley, district plant superintendent of the telephone company, said: "We have the profile from the office of the chief of construction, and we will be ready to take care of our conduit when called upon to do so. I presume that we will all get together at the proper time with Captain Clayton and agree among ourselves how best to go about the work to save time and prevent confusion. We cannot lower our conduit until all the water and gas connections are made. Where there are fills, we will just lengthen the manholes, so we will only have to change our conduit where the street grade is cut. I believe that we can co-operate so as to prevent any waste of time or unnecessary delay. We stand ready to do our part."

City Will Be Its Part.

Captain Clayton says that the relaying of the sewer main will be under the direction of his department, and that he will see to it that that part of the work is done promptly.

General Manager Smith, of the waterworks department, said:

"We have the Ivy street profile, and are now mapping what we will be expected to do. We have a very knotty problem to solve, for we will have to furnish the people on the street with water while we take up the old main. To do this we may have to lay a temporary surface pipe, and there is danger of the pipes freezing in very cold weather. When the chief of construction calls upon us to go to work with the water main we will have men enough on the job to rush the work without a moment's delay. We will first take up the old main, and then, when the street is put on the new grade we will proceed to lay the new main. We will let the chief of construction know in a few days about how much time we will take to do the job."

Work Being Rushed on Peachtree.

One hundred and fourteen county convicts were put to work on Peachtree, Baker and West Peachtree streets Monday, and from now on the work will be pushed, as the county always does when it gets behind in its job.

The repaving of East and West Baker streets will be finished by next Friday.

The convicts began setting the curb on Peachtree street Monday afternoon. The curb will be set on both sides of the street, and then the sidewalks will be repaved. When this is done the street will be repaved with asphalt macadam.

A wonderful showing has been made since the Constitution began its street improvement campaign about ten days ago, and the work will all be finished in about thirty days.

Conferring with the waterworks department, said:

WOMAN CASHIER TIED AND GAGGED

Burglars Then Loot Branch Office of the Prudential Life of $500.

New York, October 28.—Burglars entered a branch office of the Prudential Life Insurance company in Brooklyn this afternoon, gagged the cashier, Alice Brennels, with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform, left her lying bound upon the floor and after looting a safe, escaped with $500, money which collectors of the company have brought in during the day.

PREDICTED DEATH AND DEATH CAME

Alleged That Mrs. Lindloff Used Poison to Make Predictions Come True.

Chicago, October 28.—The state introduced its principal evidence today in the trial of Mrs. Louise Lindloff, spiritualist, clairvoyant and crystal gazer, charged with poisoning her son, Arthur, and who the prosecution asserts predicted the deaths of other members of her family and neighbors. Walter S. Haines, toxicologist, testified he found between three and four grains of a mineral poison, enough to cause death, in the body of Arthur Lindloff, the son of the defendant, and that he found the same drug in fatal quantities in the bodies of William Lindloff, one of Mrs. Lindloff's husbands, and of Alma Lindloff, her daughter.

RUSH ORDERS SENT CRUISER BALTIMORE

Philadelphia, October 28.—The United States cruiser Baltimore, attached to the Atlantic reserve fleet at the Philadelphia navy yard, orders from Washington were gotten into condition today to sail at forty-eight hours' notice. Captain J. C. Phelps, of the battleship Iowa, was detailed to command the Baltimore. The probable destination of the vessel is not known, but rumors at the yard were that it would be sent to some Mexican port or perhaps to the scene of the Turkish disturbance to protect American interests.

PUT PISTOL IN MOUTH AND PULLED TRIGGER

Hampton, S. C., October 28.—Frank Brunson, constable for a magistrate at Brunson, S. C., committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head with a .38-caliber revolver. Apparently, Brown placed the muzzle of the pistol in his mouth and pulled the trigger. Brown's wife said today that her husband had been despondent, and she had tried to keep him from getting the pistol.

HE ROBBED MORGAN UNDER HYPNOTIC SPELL

New York, October 28.—John Bernauer, the youthful Bavarian who robbed the residence of J. P. Morgan, Jr., and other wealthy persons of thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, freely related in court today the story of his burglary, but declared he was under the hypnotic spell of an old pal of his at the time. Bernauer entered a plea of guilty, however, and was sentenced to from five to ten years in Sing Sing prison. He boasted in court of how he stole into the very room where the jewels were kept and ransacked the financier's dresser.

WOMEN WITNESS DARING ROBBERY

Two Negro Highwaymen Rifle Cash Register in Store.

Three young women customers and the wife of the proprietor stood terrified while they witnessed two negro highwaymen boldly cover M. Wittles with revolvers in his store at 302 Woodward avenue last night, about 11 o'clock, and rifle the cash register of its contents.

When the robbers lowered their pistols, pocketed the booty and ran out into the brilliantly lighted street, Wittles gave chase, but was quickly outdistanced. The negroes secured less than $5, because the proprietor had taken the proceeds of the day from the cash register and had locked it in the safe.

HE WHEELED HIMSELF FOR A LEAP TO DEATH

New York, October 28.—After wheeling his invalid chair to the railing surrounding the fourth-floor veranda of the Montefiore Home for incurables, Max Snodowsky, an inmate, today drew himself up to the edge and toppled over into the courtyard, 40 feet below. He was dead when carried into the home.

WHEELER HIMSELF FOR A LEAP TO DEATH

Other invalid inmates in their chairs on the veranda saw their companion slowly draw himself by all the power left in his arms to the top of the rail, but were powerless to prevent the suicide.

Snodowsky had been an inmate of the home for six years. He suffered from spinal disease, and practically was helpless.

TURKS ON VERGE OF BEING DRIVEN OUT OF EUROPE

All Reports Indicate Balkan Allies Have Been Victorious. POWERS SOON TO INTERFERE

Conferences Are Being Held and It Is Probable the Balkan States Will Be Checked.

London, October 28.—An interesting question at the present moment is the whereabouts of the Turkish army, of which nothing definite is known. The news that Eski-Baba has been taken by the Bulgarian cavalry, apparently without resistance, shows that Nazim Pasha's army is not where it was supposed to have been—on the line between Kuleli Burgas and Luleburgas. It may be further west, in the direction of Demotica, but it is generally supposed it has retired from the line of the railway and entrenched itself on the long line from Demotica to Thessalonica.

Constantinople dispatches continue to speak of the readiness of the Turkish army to take the offensive. In any case, a few days must see something decisive.

The victorious Bulgarian army is still advancing. It has occupied Bunarhisar and is marching toward Kuleli Burgas. It is reported the Bulgarians have blown up a bridge over the Thessalonian river, showing that the turning movement is making rapid progress.

Turks Being Driven From Europe.

Unless the Turks are able to take the offensive vigorously, the present indication is that they will be driven out of Europe altogether, falling interference by the powers at the present stage to end the war, as happened in the Russian campaign against Turkey in 1912 and 1913, when Russia had captured Adrianople and was at the gates of Constantinople.

There have been renewed activities with regard to European intervention in the past few days, and great diplomatic activity in London. The Turkish ambassador had a two-hour conference on Sunday at the French embassy, and an important conference took place today at the British foreign office between Sir Edward Grey and the foreign secretary, Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, and Lieutenant Colonel J. E. B. Seely, minister of war. Then the Turkish, French, Russian and Italian ambassadors visited the foreign secretary, who afterwards had an audience with the king at Buckingham palace.

Turks Retiring Everywhere.

News from other parts of the theater of operations shows that the Turks everywhere are retreating before the victorious army.

The Turkish army defeated at Kumanova appears to be demoralized and has evacuated Kuprili, or Veles, as it is also known, and is retreating on Monastir.

A dispatch from Constantinople tonight reports that Ananous Shekfat Pasha has been appointed chief of the commissariat department of the war office.

Acceptance of this appointment is considered as showing a spirit of remarkable self-abnegation on the part of the distinguished officer, as the post, though important, scarcely corresponds to his previous high rank and services. It appears to confirm, however, current reports of the deplorable condition of the Turkish commissariat service.

east telegraphs today that he is well satisfied with the position of the Turkish forces and expects a decisive battle soon. The minister says the Bulgarian army sustained severe losses in the battle of October 23 that it was unable to reform and resume the offensive. On the other hand, he adds, the Turkish forces since that date have gained in strength and numbers and await confidently the Bulgarian attack.

Ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid arrived here late tonight and was lodged in the palace on the Bosphorus. His son, Prince Abdul Sahim, who was serving on the staff of Prince Aziz, reached here today. He was wounded in the arm and leg at Kirk-Kiliseh.

Martial law is being rigorously enforced. Nobody is allowed out after 10 o'clock at night.

BULGARIANS MAKE DEMAND FOR SURRENDER OF ADRIANOPLE
Sofia, October 28.—Bulgarian forces, according to advices received tonight, have captured the towns of Luleburgas and Demotica. It is also said that the Turks are constructing earthworks along the river Erkene, west of Eski-Baba.

It is said that Bulgarian cavalry has cut communications between Adrianople and Constantinople and between Adrianople and Macedonia. The bridge over the Thracia river at Cherkesski has been blown up. It is understood that civilians leaving Adrianople are permitted to pass through the lines to the south.

The Turkish commander at Adrianople has been formally summoned to surrender the town. A second military train from Constantinople, loaded with flour, has fallen into the hands of the Bulgarians at Eski-Baba.

FALL OF SCUTARI IMMINENT: SERVIAN BOMBARD THE CITY
London, October 28.—A dispatch from Rome to The Post says that Montenegrin flag flies at the summit of Tarabosha and that the fall of Scutari is imminent. This is not confirmed from other sources.

A Cetinje dispatch to The Standard says the commander at Scutari returned to no answer to the summons to surrender and that the Montenegrins are bombarding Tarabosha.

The Express publishes a dispatch dated Turkish headquarters, at Thoria, October 28, saying "Abdullah Pasha's camp is here. His army lies in a line from Luleburgas to Bunarhisar and a decisive battle is expected within a week."

SERVIAN REPORT CAPTURE OF ENTIRE TURKISH ARMY
Belgrade, October 28.—Semi-official advices report that the Turkish army which retired from Uskup toward Vites surrendered today to the Servian cavalry and delivered up their arms. The Servians later seized 123 guns.

That section of the Turkish army which was defeated at Kumanova appears to have been entirely broken up. The Turks from Istip are making Vele the objective point of their retreat. Prior to their occupation of Istip by the Servians, the inhabitants arose against the Turks and seized their arms.

ROMANIA WANTS TO SHARE IF THERE'S TURKEY CARVING
Bucharest, Rumania, October 28.—The cabinet has decided that the circumstances do not warrant the mobilization of the Rumanian army. The king, addressing the ministers, declared, however, that the existing grave situation would impose upon Rumania "the duty of arriving at important decisions."

The king's speech is interpreted as indicating that in the event of Turkey's defeat Rumania would insist upon being consulted in any redistribution of Turkish dominions.

"TIPPING" RECOGNIZED BY THE UNITED STATES
Washington, October 28.—"Tipping" as a necessary incident to travel is given recognition in the regulations issued today by Secretary MacVeagh to govern travel expenses of officers and employees of the treasury department. The treasury's rules in this respect are regarded as models, and probably will be followed by other departments. A maximum of 50 cents a day is allowed for "tips" in New York and Chicago. A similar allowance is made in a score of other large cities. Railroad tickets will be "tipped" 15 to 25 cents, and steamship stewards $10 to $15 for an ocean trip.

For men and lodging in New York and Chicago the allowance has been increased from $5 to $6. Limited laundry charges will be allowed when a treasury official is absent as long as one week.

"VINCE CONNERAT CAREFUL DRIVER"

Frank Weldon Pays Tribute to His Skill in Constitution Tour.

"Vince Connerat was a remarkably skillful driver," said Frank Weldon yesterday in discussing the accident which resulted in his death. "In the summer of 1910 I rode beside him for three weeks on The Constitution's first round the state pathfinding tour. Sitting beside him day after day as we covered 1,200 miles I had ample opportunity to judge his ability as a driver."

The two things which impressed me most deeply were his carefulness and his lightning-like quickness of action. "I do not recall that he ever took a risk which could be avoided. Many a time he would stop to look and listen for a train. It was not like him to take a chance, but on Sunday night, driving alone and coming on the sharp turn unexpectedly, blinded perhaps by the headlights, he realized that it was either get across ahead of the train or slacken speed, hit the locomotive broadside and cause a horrible wreck."

Would Do Right Thing.
"He was the quickest man to act in an emergency I ever saw. He would do the right thing instantly and instinctively."

"All who motor far over the country roads know how many unexpected things are happening all the time. As you get on them—maybe a bad hole, or a dog, a child, a stump or another car meeting you on a curve."

"One day, on a country road, one of the wheels struck a log hidden in the weeds. The car actually seemed to be turning turtle. Vince, with a powerful turn of the wheel, threw the front around in such position that the Buick righted itself."

Gives the Right of Way.
"I have often heard him say, as a train passed, 'You can have the right of way.'"

"The crossing at which he met his death is very dangerous and I recall that we commented on it as we passed over, little thinking that two years later he would meet his fate there."

"Vince Connerat was impetuous in temperament, but he had fine judgment in business. He knew his car thoroughly and was a highly successful salesman and manager of men. In business he was strictly business, but outside he was generous and hospitable."

The last words he is known to have uttered were few minutes before the accident were when he stopped to speak to a fellow motorist, Louis Vaughan, who was repairing some tire trouble.

"Friend, can I do anything for you?" "That was the real good and true Vince Connerat."

The body of R. V. Connerat, prominent automobile man, who was killed when his auto was struck by a Central train at a crossing near Jonesboro, Ga., on Sunday night, will be taken to Savannah at 9:10 o'clock Tuesday evening, and the funeral services will be held at the St. John Episcopal church in Savannah, at 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The pallbearers will be as follows: William Hurd Hillyer, Alfred C. Newell, William W. Martin and Joseph W. Hill, of Atlanta, and William F. McCauley, William Osborne, Frank W. Williams and W. W. Gross, of Savannah, and honorary pallbearers, R. H. Collins, of Decatur, and Judge George Hillyer, of Atlanta.

TWO SOLDIERS KILLED AND 39 ARE INJURED

Toronto, Ont., October 28.—Two soldiers of the Toronto garrison were killed, two probably fatally injured and thirty-seven others badly hurt when a train on which the troops were returning from sham battles at Milton was wrecked this evening near Streetsville Junction. The special troop train crashed into the engine of the Canadian Pacific express bound for Detroit, which was just moving from Streetsville Junction after taking water. The force of the impact lifted the heavy baggage car of the troop train from its trucks and it shot back into the first six passenger coaches in which the soldiers were crowded.

The victims were Private Murdock McKinnzie, of the Forty-eighth Highlanders; Private A. Sinclair, of the Queenstown rifles.

CHANCE GLOOMY ABOUT THE CUBS

They Will Be in Second Division Next Season, Says Ex-Manager.

Albuquerque, N. M., October 28.—Visiting here on his way to Los Angeles, Frank Chance, deposed manager of the Chicago National league baseball club, tonight declared the team would be in the second division in 1913. "The club next season will be a second division team, and everybody knows it," he said. "Murphy alone is responsible. He refused to give me money with which to get new players and he is now face to face with the condition that I predicted."

CAPT. ENGLISH, NOW 75 CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Captain James W. English celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday yesterday.

Although seventy-five years have passed over his head, he looks as well and as hardy as he did when he celebrated his fiftieth birthday. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Fourth National bank closed its business for the day the entire working force of the bank gathered about him and congratulated him on having reached with such distinction and good health his seventy-fifth birthday. He was presented with a handsome watch fob and a basket of flowers containing seventy-five roses. The presentation was made by Vice President J. K. Otley in behalf of the other officials and employees of the bank.

Captain English has been mayor of Atlanta, served as a member of council and of the police board. He was on the board twenty-five years and nearly all of that time was chairman. While department gave way to the paid department, and during that time the police department was put on a stronger basis.

As a private citizen the record of Captain English is notable. He was among those who led the fight that made Atlanta the capital of the state. He was on the building committee of the Y. M. C. A., was one of the originators of the Cotton States and International exposition, helped to secure the old Soldiers' home and was a liberal subscriber to the fund for the Georgia School of Technology. One of his more recent projects was the Terminal station.

He is at present president of the Fourth National bank, president of the Chattahoochee Brick company and a director of the Central of Georgia and West Point roads. He is a staunch democrat, a member of the United Confederate Veterans and a Mason and an Odd Fellow.

MILITARY ACADEMIES TO FURNISH OFFICERS

El Paso, Texas, October 28.—The granting of temporary commissions as army officers to graduates of military academies is the solution of the problem caused by the lack of officers for the army, declared General Leonard A. Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, here today. General Wood intends to place his plan before the department of war at the completion of his present tour of the Pacific coast and the Mexican frontier.

"The commission would be for one year only with the possibility of a permanent commission on exceptional service," said General Wood. "The cadet would become a second lieutenant, junior to regular lieutenants. At the end of the year he could enter any business pursuit, but would be retained on a reserve. This would make possible the offering of a reserve force and would solve the problem of the scarcity of officers should it become necessary to reorganize the army to war strength and recruit the volunteers."

Sum Will Be Apportioned Among Interests Which Will Be Benefited.

Plans for a "convention bureau" were given impetus Monday afternoon at a meeting of the convention bureau committee of the chamber of commerce. President Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce, was requested to appoint a committee of three to apportion among the various interests the sum to be raised by each. The committee will be announced soon.

There were present at the meeting Wilmer L. Moore, H. N. Dutton, J. Lee Barnes and James T. Williams, representing the hotels and restaurants; E. L. Adams and C. E. Caverly, representing the wholesale grocers; Aldine Chambers, representing the real estate interests; Ivan E. Allen, from the chamber of commerce directors; W. H. Glenn, of the Georgia Railway and Power company; J. G. Evans, representing the moving picture interests; Homer George, representing the theaters; St. Elmo Massengale and I. H. JENKINS PRISONERS ASK FOR INVESTIGATION

Investigations being in order, now comes a cry from three prisoners in Jenkins county jail asking Governor Brown to please send somebody to investigate the prison. This came to the governor in the form of a "round robin," which reads, in part, as follows:

Dear Governor: Please send somebody to investigate this jail. It is as dirty as a sty and as lousy.

Some of the prisoners have not taken a bath in four months. They are milder than to us here, and when people come to see us they have to stand on the outside and holler. But that is good for them, for the inside ain't fit for nobody to visit anyhow.

Send somebody to see about how it is, but please, yo' highness, don't send any of the preaching and singing kind. They don't git nothing done.

We don't git nothing to eat but once a day, and we nerly freeze with the cold. So, please hurry up and send somebody.

RYAN INVOLVED WITH M'MANIGAL

Union President Frequently Conferred With Self-Confessed Dynamiter.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 28.—John Golden, president of the United Textile Workers of America, testified at the "dynamite trial" today that he had corresponded with the iron workers' union headquarters in Indianapolis about an explosion.

He said in April, 1908, he had written to Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, enclosing a clipping headed "Dynamite Explodes" and saying "enclosed please find newspaper clipping, which will be self-explanatory."

The clipping referred to an explosion when two spans of a bridge were blown up. The work was being done by a contractor against whom the iron workers had called a strike. It was one of the jobs of the M'Manigal confessed to having done on instructions from J. J. McNamara.

Mr. Golden also identified a copy of a reply sent to him by Mr. Ryan, in the reply Ryan referred to an editorial in The Union Magazine commenting on the finding of dynamite on a job in Cleveland, which a non-union workman said he placed that he might "discover" the explosive and be promoted. Mr. Ryan's reply to Golden was that the Fall River explosion might be classed with the finding of the dynamite in Cleveland.

Testimony that President Ryan and M'Manigal had talked for two hours in a room to which the door was closed was given by R. J. Cook, former stenographer for McNamara.

"How long were Ryan and M'Manigal in the room?" asked Senator J. W. Kern, counsel for the defense, on cross-examination.

"McNamara came to the office and asked for McNamara," replied Cook. "I told him McNamara was out, but Ryan was there. Then he went in to see Ryan about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and when I left the office they were still in there."

Two days before McNamara confessed he caused an explosion at Kansas City, Mo.

Three automatic magazine guns, one shotgun and cartridges were presented before the jury as having been the property of John J. McNamara, James B. McNamara and M'Manigal. They were identified by Frank P. Baker, prosecuting attorney of Marion county, as part of the property taken from the iron workers' headquarters after McNamara's arrest.

Cook testified that after The Los Angeles Times building was blown up by J. J. McNamara locked himself in his office and devoted himself to reading newspapers. Later, the witness said, McNamara disguised himself and started to meet J. B. McNamara, his brother, at a town in Nebraska, where J. B. was to go on his way back from Los Angeles, and after hiding for two weeks in Salt Lake City.

The witness also said Ryan had knowledge of the $1,000 given monthly to McNamara to pay his expenses.

BREESE AND DICKERSON LOSE IN LAST COURT

Washington, October 28.—The conviction of William E. Breese and Joseph E. Dickerson on an indictment charging conspiracy to embezzle from the First National bank, of Asheville, N. C., was today approved by the supreme court. The indictment was brought in 1907, and has been fought ever since.

Breese and Dickerson contended that the indictment was invalid because the grand jury had not accompanied the foreman into the courtroom in presenting the indictment to the court.

Justice Holmes, in announcing the court's opinion today, said that the point that a constitutional right had been violated in thus presenting the indictment did not need discussion. He explained that the rest of the grand jury was in an adjoining room, with a clear passageway to the courtroom when the foreman presented the indictment.

"It would be going somewhat to say that it was not presented in the presence of the grand jury," said the justice. "If we apply the cases regarding the signature of Wills."

He added that the point was raised too late.

The Business Man Who Wears This E. & W. Suit Will Get The Orders!
It's $25

If you will take notice, you'll observe that the clean-cut, nobly dressed business man gets most of the orders while his shabbily attired competitor generally struggles along. Men who wear E. & W. clothes LOOK prosperous—and, therefore, are at a decided advantage.

Yesterday's express brought us a line of Men's Business Suits that are certainly elegant and swell! The material is a nifty, roughish SCOTCH CHEVIOT with a black ground, tinged with gray. The cut is a very nobby, dashing 3-Button Sack model. Of course, the workmanship is up to the high standard of all E. & W. Suits. The price is EXCEPTIONALLY reasonable at $25.

COMPANY CHANGES CREMATORY PLANS

Woodward's Determination Not to Approve Warrants Remains Unchanged.

The corrections in the plans of the new $275,000 crematory will not cause Mayor-elect James G. Woodward to change his opinion or cause him to approve the warrants when they are presented to him for payment. A telegram from Acting Mayor Candler yesterday conveyed the news that the Destructor company, of New York, contractors for the new crematory, had made the changes in the specifications which were turned down with criticism by Captain H. M. Clayton, of the construction department.

The contract is illegal, Mayor-elect Woodward reiterated. "It makes no difference whether the changes are made or not. I still stick to the opinion that the city council has no right to appropriate money which has not yet been paid into the treasury to pay for work contracted for months ahead."

Nothing Coming to Atlanta.
The Destructor company has notified the city that J. A. Nutting, general manager, would leave New York Monday afternoon to confer with the city officials on the crematory contract. The object of the visit is to make an investigation to learn just where the company would stand if it went ahead with the work and then be told to go while for the money when the warrants are presented to the mayor for signature.

Mayor-elect Woodward's antagonism to the crematory involves the question of whether the plant will be able to generate sufficient electric current to cut down the $125,000 bill for lighting which the Georgia Railway and Power company collects every year. In addition to $50,000 which the city spends for current to pump water into the city from the river. The specifications include an electric plant of 1,200 kilowatt capacity, which, it is said, is sufficient to supply the needs of the city.

"But the city cannot get an even current with garbage as a fuel," says Martin Amorous, who opposes the new crematory and favors repairing the old one. "It is a well-known fact that it is necessary to get an even temperature to make electrical current. Garbage will not do it, even if there are a dozen storage warehouses to dry the refuse before it goes into the crematory. In summertime the objections will be fierce, and the people of

2,000 FINE BIRDS NOW ON DISPLAY

Georgia Association Poultry Show Begins at the Auditorium.

Monday afternoon the doors of the Auditorium-Armory were opened to the sound of crowing roosters, and the first of Atlanta's 1912 poultry shows was in full blast.

Two thousand birds are on exhibition. About 75 per cent of them are Georgia-bred, but the others are from all coasts and corners of the country. Among the exhibitors are the famous Owen Farm, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., which won fifty-four blue ribbons recently at Nashville and Memphis shows, and the Aldrich Poultry farm, which has on view fourteen Orpingtons.

Asa G. Candler, Jr., has an Orpington exhibit that is attracting much attention. Other exhibitors are Mrs. L. L. Upson, of Athens, Ga., and Bruce & Abbott, of Ohio. There are 167 exhibitors in all.

A big crowd is expected by Tuesday morning, when it is announced that all the awards of the judges will be completed. Admission is 10 cents. C. O. Harwell and Frank Coll are in charge of the show.

Winners announced last night follow:

Barred Rocks.
Dr. H. W. Bass, Gadsden, Ala., second hen.
W. P. Barnes, Griffin, Ga., third and fifth cockerel, first hen, first pullet.
William McPherson, Athens, Ga., first pen.
Owens Farm, Vineyard Haven, Mass., second cock, first and fourth cockerel, second and fourth pullet.
Dr. V. W. Reynolds, Meridian, Miss., second cockerel, second pen.
A. R. Morris, Stone Mountain, Ga., third cock.
Wolf Creek Poultry Yard, Abingdon, Va., fifth hen, fifth pullet.
Atlanta Poultry Yards, first cock, third and fourth hen.
C. C. Stinnauer, third pullet.

White Rocks.
Bacon & Haywood, Gayton, Ga., first cockerel, third cock, fourth hen.
W. R. Hardman, Commerce, Ga., first cock, second hen.
Owens Farm, Vineyard Haven, Mass., first pullet, first pen.
R. G. Hooks, city, second and fourth cockerel, fifth hen, fourth pullet, third pen.
Paul A. Wright, city, second cock, third cockerel, first and third hen, fifth pullet, second pen.
W. A. Sharp, city, fourth and fifth cock, 2nd and third pullet.

Atlanta will be cussing those who spent its good money for the plant.

Aldermen Will Approve.

The arrival of General Manager Nutting, of the destructor company, will probably bring about the approval by the aldermanic board of the contract to tear down the old crematory. The contract was held up because the plans for the new plant were not approved; but, in view of the assurance received by Acting Mayor Candler Monday morning to the effect that the company had changed the plans to conform with specifications of the construction department, nothing now stands in the way except the disapproval of Mr. Woodward, who does not assume office until January, when the work will be well under way.

One of the most necessary changes in the specifications submitted by the destructor company was that there be no inflammable material used in the building. The company proposed wooden window sills, sashes, doors and other appurtenances, which were returned with criticisms.

WOMAN HIS FATHER FLOGGED BECOMES DOZIER'S BRIDE

Essie Carter, now Mrs. Vogt O. Dozier, from a picture taken in the Macon hospital, where she was taken after being horsewhipped by W. S. Dozier, of Dawson, because of her infatuation for the young man she married Monday afternoon.

Macon, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—

Vogt O. Dozier, 20-year-old son of W. S. Dozier, clerk of the superior court of Terrell county, was married to night to Essie Carter, the young woman his father some weeks ago dragged from a house in the tenderloin district of Dawson and severely flogged with a buggy whip because of the infatuation which he had been unable to overcome.

The marriage was performed after repeated refusals by ministers and civil authorities. Justice of the Peace Burnett officiated.

The young man procured his license Saturday, which created a sensation when it became known. When it looked as though the ceremony would not be performed, young Dozier left for his home in Dawson, saying that on his return he and the woman would go to Columbia, S. C., where they would be made man and wife, and would reside. The marriage late Monday afternoon was a complete surprise.

The Carter woman still has a suit pending against W. S. Dozier for $25,000 damages because of the flogging.

"This certainly is a shock to me," said W. S. Dozier, of Dawson, tonight when informed over the long-distance telephone of the marriage of his son to Essie Carter.

"I had heard rumors that they were going to marry, but I did not believe that my son would further disgrace us by doing so."

Asked what he intended doing, Mr. Dozier declared that "they have me up a tree now, and I do not know just what I will do."

PLEA OF OLD CONVICT SAVES BOY FROM PEN

Chicago, October 28.—The plea of an old convict today saved Charles Bryant, 18 years old, from a penitentiary sentence.

"I'm an old convict," he said. "I've been in the 'pen,' so let me go back there again. It can't hurt any more than it has. But this boy was led astray by me. It was my fault, not his. Don't ruin him by sending him to the 'pen.' I know how it blasts a man's life."

This plea by Magnus Nelson, who, with Broadbent, held up four men in a park, resulted in the younger prisoner being sent to a reform school instead of to prison. Judge Cooper sent Nelson back to the penitentiary.

Troops Leave Race Track.

Indianapolis, October 28.—State troops today were recalled from the Mineral Springs race track at Porter, Ind., and tonight the grounds were reported deserted except for a few hordes, which will be wintered there. Brigadier General Garrard, who has been in charge and acting under orders of Governor T. E. Marshall to stop gambling, reported that he believed no more attempts will be made to continue the meet. The militia took possession of the track a week ago.

NICARAGUAN WOMAN AS MOLLY PITCHER

She Fought Against the U. S. Marines and Was Killed by Her Gun.

New York, October 28.—When the American marines on October 4 charged up and captured Coyatepe hill near Masaya, Nicaragua, after having raked the insurgent position with their batteries of rapid firing guns, lying among the dead rebels was a Nicaraguan woman—a modern Molly Pitcher. Clutched tightly in her hands was a 1-pound shell which she was trying to load into a rebel fieldpiece when a bullet from the American forces struck her, and she fell dead beneath the gun.

This story and other details of the battle were related today by Lieutenant Colonel Martin, of the First Provisional regiment, United States marine corps, who came up from Colon on the steamer Cristobal, to have the wounds which he received in the battle treated at the Brooklyn navy yard hospital.

The rebel losses in the fight, Lieutenant Martin said, were over 200. Two marines, Private Durham, of Company C, and Bobbitt, of Company C, were killed, and several others wounded. The heavy casualties of the rebels were inflicted by Nicaraguan cavalry, which pursued them after the Americans had captured the hill.

The Americans, 1,000 strong, and under command of Major William W. McKelvey, attacked the rebel position after dashing across open country for 800 yards. Two barbed-wire fences had been erected by the rebels near the top of the hill. Private Durham was sent out in advance with clippers to destroy the trenches.

The Americans then brought their rapid-fire guns into the attack and the rebel position from two sides. The fighting lasted only a few minutes, and when the marines reached the summit of the hill they found it deserted except for about forty rebel dead, among them the woman.

CARELESSNESS WITH GUN CAUSES A BOY'S DEATH

Tampa, Fla., October 28.—Climbing into an automobile, dragging a loaded shotgun behind him, caused the death of Billy Reasoner, the 15-year-old son of E. C. Reasoner, a prominent nurseryman of Oneco. The hammer of the gun caught on the step of the automobile and the gun went off, the charge entering the lad's breast, going into his heart. Death was almost instantaneous.

MILL USES CHILD LABOR IS CHARGED IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., October 28.—(Special.)—Violation of the child labor law by the Elmore cotton mills, of Demopolis, has been reported to the state prison inspection department by Deputy Inspector P. P. Hudson, who has just returned from an inspection of that company.

According to Deputy Hudson, he found that out of twenty-two children, selected at random, fourteen of them had not filed with the officers of the company an affidavit of their parents consenting to their employment in the mill, a violation of the law. This is the first violation of the child labor laws in the state in some time.

KNAPP AND NEILL NAME THIRD MAN

Burgess and Wickersham Unable to Agree on Georgia Road Arbitrator.

"Checkmate" was the answer of one of the Georgia railroad strike arbitrators when asked Monday why they had been unable to agree upon a third man for the arbitration board. It was explained that Charles A. Wickersham, president of the West Point road, and F. A. Burgess, assistant grand chief of the engineers, had made every possible move on the checker-board of railroad arbitration. In the hope of getting an arbitrator suitable to himself accepted by the other fellow, and had then been forced to give the game up and call it a tie.

During two weeks of parleying about fifteen names had been considered for the position, and had then, one by one, been eliminated.

All day Monday a telegram was momentarily expected from Judge Martin A. Knapp, of the commerce court in Washington, and Commissioner of Labor Charles P. Neill, announcing the third arbitrator. The appointment may be delayed several days.

SHOOTS WIFE, AND DOCTOR SUMMONED TO TREAT HER

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—While in an apparently demented condition early this morning, J. K. Wells, superintendent of the Oconee millinery in this place, shot his wife twice and when Dr. M. P. Matthews, called to attend her, reached the house, Wells emptied his pistol at him, only one shot taking effect, in his neck. Mrs. Wells' wounds are considered fatal. Dr. Matthews will recover.

The shooting occurred about 4 o'clock this morning. A brother of Wells and a merchant who has a store in the neighborhood called the police, who found the man bending over his wife in the hall, attempting to wash the blood from her face and clothing. The officers at first thought that some third party had done the shooting and were unprepared for the savage attack the man made on them. After ten minutes or more he was bound and placed in a hack and brought to the police station, struggling so furiously that he literally kicked the bottom out of the vehicle.

Wells declared that he had had no trouble with his wife and refused to make any statement about the shooting. He inquired if the doctor was dead and seemed relieved that the wounded physician was not in a serious condition.

WIFE STABS HUSBAND, THEN WATCHES HIM DIE

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Stabbing her husband, Robert Truell, with a pair of scissors, during a fight in their house, Elizabeth Truell ran outside to a window and, after watching her husband expire, escaped. Later today she surrendered to the police.

The scissors pierced the heart, causing death in a very few minutes. When she realized that she had killed her husband, the woman left with her child and remained in hiding several hours. She finally decided to notify the police of the tragedy.

Potter will be brought from St. Louis, where he was arrested, tonight. Original complaint was made by the father of the second Catherine Riley.

SUITOR IS JAILED AT GIRL'S REQUEST

Calls for Answer While She Bathed, She Says, and Rejected, Threatens Death.

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Upon the complaint of Miss Nellie Wilkes, that A. Christiansen threatened to kill her because she would not marry him, the suitor was placed under arrest today, following a quarrel at her home.

According to Miss Wilkes, Christiansen went to the house to obtain her final answer. She was in the bathroom and when he tried to force entrance she fled to another part of the house. She claims that he abused her and threatened her life.

Christiansen returned to the house the second time and was arrested there. Christiansen denies that he wants to marry Miss Wilkes. He knew her when she was living in Vidalia some time ago, he says. At this time, he says, he was engaged to her.

LAGRANGE VOTES BONDS FOR WATER, GAS, SCHOOLS

LaGrange, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Evidencing another stride in the onward march of LaGrange, citizens Monday, at a special election, voted almost unanimously for building of a $150,000 waterworks plant, $40,000 for a gas plant and $10,000 additional for public schools.

The waterworks bonds carried without a vote against them; 230 votes out of a total of 340 were cast for the gas plant; 327 cast for additional public schools. Judge R. W. Freeman will be called upon to validate the bonds and the issues will be put on the market about January 1.

CRAZY WOMAN HANGS SELF IN JAIL CELL

Louisville, Ky., October 28.—Mrs. William Llewellyn, 37, arrested on the street late Saturday night, committed suicide by hanging in the jail here yesterday. She used a two-inch-wide strip from a blanket to suspend herself from a perforated iron sheet above the door of her cell.

Shortly after the body was discovered, the woman's husband appealed to the police for aid in finding his wife, who, he said, left home early the previous night. He attributed her act to brooding over the death of her child, which had unbalanced her mind. Later, he said, she had been drinking. He told the police that recently he made application to the county court here for the adoption of a child, in the hope of alleviating his wife's despondency, but had been refused on the ground that his wife was not competent to act as guardian of a child.

Name the Winner NOMINATION BLANK

Date....., 1912
We nominate the following as our favorites in Atlanta Constitution's Grand Prize Contest.

Organization.....
Address.....
Baseball Club.....
Address and Name of Captain.....
Individual Candidate.....
Address.....
Boy or Girl Candidate.....
Address.....
The above are nominated by Name:..... Address:.....

Each signature to a nomination blank counts 1,000 votes for each organization or candidate for the four different sets of prizes, but not more than ten (10) signatures will be accepted for any one organization or individual. Signatures to count for nomination ballots may be sent on any kind of paper. The above blank is for convenience only.

How Prizes Are Awarded

Only one of the first and second prizes offered will be awarded in Atlanta and only one outside of Atlanta. The organization, either in Atlanta or outside, securing the largest number of votes will be entitled to the first prize. For example, if the first prize is won by an organization in Atlanta the second prize will be awarded to an organization outside of Atlanta receiving the largest number of votes of any organization outside of Atlanta, and vice versa. This is arranged so that the first and second prizes respectively cannot both go to organizations in the city of Atlanta, or to organizations outside of the city, but will be apportioned, one in the city and one outside. The third prize will be awarded to organizations and individuals in towns of twelve thousand population and under where at least two or more towns are competing in the contest.

How to Win

All that is necessary to enter the contest is to have ten people nominate their favorite charity, school, lodge, church, or labor union; their favorite individual; their favorite boy or girl, or their favorite amateur ball team, and save labels and sale slips.

There are two ways of winning. First, by voting the labels from any product advertised on the contest page.

Second, by voting the sale slips of any merchant whose name appears on the contest page.

This is no "clipping coupon scheme," and no votes can be secured in any other than the above described way. Labels and sale slips are exchanged at The Constitution's office for "votes."

This is the best prize offer ever made in Atlanta. Get an early start. Begin hustling at once. You do not have to ask anyone for a cent. Just ask your friends to save their labels and sale slips for you.

Those getting the most votes win the prizes.

Conditions

Votes will be given in exchange for labels, wrappers and trade marks of manufacturers' products advertised in contest announcements. Votes will also be given for sale slips, register checks and receipts bills of all merchants advertising in contest announcements, provided slips, checks and bills of such merchants are not over seven days old.

Each sale slip, receipted bill or cash register check must bear the date of purchase or payment and the name of the customer, otherwise they will be void for votes.

Not more than ten thousand (10,000) votes will be given in exchange for sale slips, cash register checks or receipted bills on any single purchase or payment, no matter what the amount or terms of payment may be.

Merchants and manufacturers co-operating in the contest and all newspaper workers are barred from competing from prizes.

In case of tie votes, prizes will be sold and proceeds equally divided.

All contestants entering contest thereby agree that the final decision should any disputes arise shall rest with The Constitution.

Out-of-town contestants may mail or express their labels and sale slips to the Contest Manager, Atlanta Constitution.

TWO ARRESTS MADE FOLLOWING WRECK

Edward Renfro Held on Charge of Being Implicated in Oct. 4 Accident.

Railroad detectives have caused the arrest of Edward Renfro on charges of being implicated in the wrecking of fast mail train No. 43 of the Southern railway, in which Jacob Costner, the engineer, was killed, on October 4.

Renfro is held in the county jail at Clarksville, in Habersham county, and there he stoutly denies that he had anything to do with the wreck. He says that the charges were concocted by the railroad detectives because they could arrive at no other solution.

Tom Tankerley, a country boy, is held on a similar charge. It is said that he has confessed that he was a party to the scheme to wreck the train, and is also said to have given the detectives the names of the men who opened the switch through which No. 43 plunged with Costner to his death.

Renfro is said to have lived at the Jacob Costner home, No. 403 Gordon street, and according to information that has been given to the railway detectives, the two men had a quarrel before the wreck.

TWO GIRLS ABDUCTED; WHITE SLAVERY CHARGED

Rome, Ga. October 28.—(Special.)—Lola and Lillie Hawes, two sisters, aged 14 and 16, respectively, were arrested in Chattanooga, Saturday, at the instigation of their mother, Mrs. W. C. Hawes, of Rome, and as the result, T. R. Friers, a pressman of Chattanooga, is in jail in that city under an ugly charge, while Lewis Jones, a white man prominently connected in Rome, was locked in the station house today, where he will be held for the federal authorities for prosecution under the white slave act.

It is charged that Jones abducted the little girls, carried them to Chattanooga for immoral purposes, and left them stranded in the city when he learned that officers were seeking his arrest. Thelma lived for nearly a week in roiling houses of that city. Their mother has gone for them, and will bring them back to Rome. Jones was fined Sunday $250 for having whiskey for the purpose of sale, it being charged that he sold whiskey from the Central tin in every county from Atlanta to Chattanooga. Warrants are out for him in these counties, it is said.

ELECTRICIAN TURNER STUDIE CHICAGO PLAN

The wonder of the "Windy City" have lured City Electrician R. C. Turner from his office in the city hall. He left Monday for Chicago, to be the guest for a week or more of Roy Palmer, Chicago's live wire city electrician.

City Electrician Turner is working to get a better system of electric lighting in Atlanta. He has a plan through which he believes the city can save thousands of dollars annually, and while he is in Chicago, where the same ideas are being worked out, he will make a closer investigation, which will be the basis of a report which will be made to the mayor and city council.

Acting Mayor Candler gave the city electrician permission to absent himself for a period of five days.

WINBURNAND CANDLER TALK LACON TERMINAL

Macon, Ga. October 28.—(Special.)—Vice President Winburn, of the Central of Georgia railway, after spending the day in Macon, left for Atlanta for a conference with Chairman Candler, of the railroad commission.

"After my talk with Mr. Candler," said Mr. Winburn, "I think I will be able to show him that the conference between the commission and representatives of various railroads entering Macon, relative to the building of the new terminal station in Macon, will be unnecessary." Mr. Winburn declined to explain just what he meant. It is known, however, that the chief engineer of the road and several of its officials were here today taking measurements about the site of the new depot. It is believed that the trial intends to begin work on the $1,500,000 passenger station at an early date.

LEAVES COLLEGE TO JOIN HUSBAND

Pretty Mrs. Hendry Kept Wedding Secret for Three Years.

Pretty Miss Emma Arnold, of Devereaux, Ga., will not receive her diploma from Agnes Scott, for she's married now, and college days are over.

In fact, had all the truth about this romance been known to the general public, the young lady would have left college several years ago, for it has just been learned that Miss Arnold and Mr. Delacy Hendry were married three years ago.

All this time Mrs. Hendry has been going to college, and not a word, not even to her best chum, has she breathed of her romance.

"We have been sweethearts for some eight years or more," said Mr. Hendry last night. "Our romance began when she was a student at the Georgia Normal and Industrial college, and I was going to the Georgia Military college."

"Later I began traveling for a jewelry company, and finally located in Columbus, Ohio, where I am now living. Three years ago we married in Devereaux, Ga., while I was on my way through Georgia on business. We are stopping in Atlanta for a few days, and will go home to Columbus then."

Mr. Hendry's old home was in Macon, Ga. Mrs. Hendry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Arnold, of Devereaux, Ga.

BUSINESS WILL AID TUBERCULOSIS FIGHT

Active Interest of Prominent Men Will Be Enlisted at Chamber Luncheon.

The next feature of the fight Atlanta is making against tuberculosis will be the chamber of commerce luncheon on Thursday, for which final preparations will be made at a meeting of the anti-tuberculosis committee of the chamber, to be held at 11 o'clock today. At this luncheon it is expected to enlist the active interest of many of Atlanta's prominent business men.

The Anti-Tuberculosis association was much gratified over the splendid showing made on Tuberculosis day. While all of the churches and Sunday schools did not participate, the majority of them did, and the interest was such as to insure complete co-operation another year. The association is anxious to get in reports from all the Sunday schools which had the Red Cross pins.

The association states that it does not propose to let the movement through the churches and Sunday schools become dormant, but will see to maintain in them an active and working interest.

The Red Cross seal campaign is now on, and will be pressed vigorously.

JUDGE A. W. FITE PAYS $500 FINE

Money Was Raised by His Friends in Cherokee Circuit.

The $500 fine recently imposed by the court of appeals upon Judge A. W. Fite, of the Cherokee circuit, for contempt of court was paid on Monday by Judge George F. Guber, deposited in the state treasury and receipted to Judge Fite and the incident was officially closed.

Judge Fite was accompanied to the capital by his friend, Dr. B. B. Harris. The $500 to meet the fine was raised by Dr. Harris by subscription through Judge Fite's circuit.

Judge Fite did not go to the office of the clerk, but remained in the office of State Treasurer W. J. Speer for several minutes in casual discussion of current topics.

Monday was the last day in which Judge Fite had to decide whether he would pay the fine or go behind prison bars. On account of the bitterness of the judge's feelings upon the action of the court it was thought by some that he might resist payment, but it is learned that attorneys and his friends advised him that to pay the fine was the best course to pursue.

DEATH PREDICTED FOR POULTRY LAW

Alderman Van Dyke Declares It Will Create Monopoly and Lift Prices.

Death of the poultry ordinance framed by Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, is predicted because it is alleged it will create a monopoly for a few, and will drive many poultry dealers out of business.

Alderman Arthur Van Dyke said Monday that he was going to appear before the ordinance committee, which sits in a public hearing at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and will fight the ordinance. The section which requires that poultry taken from storage cannot be replaced without inspection and retagging by an inspector is particularly obnoxious to many dealers, and unless it is stricken out, is to cause the death of the measure.

"The ordinance will not only create a monopoly, but it will make the price of poultry so high in Atlanta as to put it out of the reach of the poor man," said Alderman Van Dyke.

Poultrymen met a committee of the chamber of commerce recently and discussed the ordinance. It was stated then that prices of chickens would advance at least 15 per cent—just high enough to put it out of the reach of the poor man.

Councilman C. W. Smith, who is chairman of the committee to which the ordinance was referred, is also opposed to the measure, and will fight it on practically the same grounds urged by Dr. Van Dyke.

Dr. Hartman Invites Doctors to Visit His Office

In my last article I referred to the fact that many doctors have used Peruna and have offered to write me testimonials if I would pay them for their trouble.

The publication of these facts has caused some comment, especially some comment from corespondents. The doctors themselves especially emphasize the subject. I give an extract from a characteristic letter written by a doctor. He says:

Dear Doctor Hartman: I have read what you say about the regular physicians using Peruna and their attitude toward written testimonials. I think you treat them generously by not condemning them for making such offers. I know from personal experience that most of the regular drug houses are willing to pay for that sort of work. I wish, however, you had given the names and addresses of the doctors you refer to in your article. Your statements would have been much more convincing if you had done so. You will excuse me if I express some doubt as to the good standing of the physicians that you refer to. Do you mean to say that you have in your files the letters which you quoted from in your last article? Will you let me see those letters if I should call at your office? I am the editor of a medical journal, and would be glad to take the matter up as a news item interesting to physicians.

To this letter I made the following reply:

My Dear Doctor: I am glad you are interested in my article concerning the doctors and their attitude toward Peruna. I assure you that I have the letters that I quoted in the article and that you are perfectly welcome to examine them if you will call at my office. And at the same time I have many other letters quite as remarkable as those, that you may examine. In fact, I will open to you my files, which are so arranged that hundreds of thousands of letters covering the last twenty years are available. You may spend as much time as you please in looking over the correspondence. To each letter I have received, filed in alphabetical order, is appended a copy of the answer they received. You being the editor of a medical journal, I should especially appreciate if you would spend some time in looking through my files. I am sure you will find the most remarkable letters you ever looked at. They tell the story of thousands of invalids who have been afflicted with some chronic catarrhal disease and have found complete relief by taking Peruna. If I should publish them all they would make a library equal in volume to any law library in the city.

Come right along, Doctor. You shall not only see the two letters referred to in my former article, but I guarantee that you will see scores of others equally as interesting and valuable. Bring as many other doctors with you as you please.

PROFITS FOR FARMER OR SPECULATOR?

According to the ginning report of the census bureau, published last Saturday, there had been ginned up to October 18, when one-half of the crop is usually ginned, 6,838,841 bales.

Last year at the same time there had been ginned 7,758,621 bales.

At this rate the present crop will be nearly 2,000,000 bales below that of last year. It will more nearly approximate the crop of 1910-11 which brought 14.60 per pound.

In view of these facts before a southern farmer puts another bale on the market at 11 cents, he should ask himself: "Am I getting what my crop is actually worth? Am I not playing into the hands of the cotton speculator, and giving to him the profits that should be mine?"

Considering that all of last season's large crop has been practically consumed, that few stocks of cotton goods were brought over; that the world will need 15,000,000 bales of American cotton, the conclusion is inevitable that cotton is not now bringing what it is worth.

The only way to make it bring more is for the farmers everywhere to hold the staple off the market until the speculators, and the "short" sellers are forced to pay its real value.

The farmer who rushes his cotton on the market because of the advance of a quarter of a cent per pound in price, unless actually forced to do so by his necessities, is playing into the hands of the speculators.

As usual at this season, when about half of the staple is still in the hands of the producers, bear operators are circulating false and fictitious reports to depress prices. The presidential election and war in the Balkans are pointed to as threatening business prosperity.

Neither argument has any force. It is a matter of general comment that there has been no upset of business confidence in the face of democratic success in November. The Balkan war will stimulate demand if it has any effect. After the speculator gets the cotton, business conditions will amazingly improve as usual.

Conditions of supply and demand absolutely justify a higher price than cotton is now bringing and if farmers will realize the folly of glutting the market when 11 cents is bid, they can force the speculators to pay from two to three cents more.

Every natural condition points to better prices.

The LaGrange Reporter quotes a local business man as saying: "There is no sound money for the present low price for cotton. It is selling for less than it costs to make it, and a higher price is justified by conditions of the trade. The practically complete consumption of last year's 16,000-bale crop shows the increased uses and needs of cotton. Most of the mills have made extensive sales, but many have held off their cotton expecting to get it at a lower price. There is also a large speculative short interest, not only among the big operators, but many a 'piker,' and little country merchants have sold short to spot cotton houses for delivery during the next several weeks. Any sudden show of strength in the market would be followed by such a rush of covering as to advance the price sharply."

Now is the time for all factors to get together to save to the cotton farmers and the south the profit which the speculator is seeking to pocket, and to enable the grower to hold his cotton off the market.

The interests of all southern business men, bankers, mill men and farmers are identical. All will benefit by the increased profits that will come to the cotton farmer. Southern bankers will extend the aid of their resources to save the farmer from sacrificing his staple. Merchants are urged to extend their credit to bring about the same result.

The crop of Georgia ginned to October 18 was 788,570 as compared to 1,552,718 at the same time last year—just one-half. If the total revenue is to approximate that of last year, it must bring a great deal more than the prices now offered.

If the farmers are able to hold their crop, a price of 14 or 15 cents can be forced from the speculators.

AWAKENING TO ATLANTA'S NEED!

Discussion following the recent frank address of Dr. J. Horace McFarland on what Atlanta needs to make it more healthful, habitable and attractive to residents, discloses the fact that numbers of Atlantans realize fully the defects of their home city and have practical ideas for its improvement. It is a helpful sign.

When the criticism of the distinguished visitor invited to appear before the chamber of commerce and Federation of Woman's clubs, and tell Atlantans where they were deficient in provisions for the future, were cheerfully admitted by the accused, local architects and civil engineers realized that the time was opportune to speak out.

In yesterday's Constitution Haralson Bleckley and James M. Hazlehurst had pertinent communications on the problems now facing the city, which make timely and interesting reading.

Fifty growing cities of the country, they say, are now struggling with the same problem to which the chamber of commerce has invited Atlanta's attention. Many of them, like Pittsburg, have waited so long to do an absolutely inevitable work, that the problem of reconstruction is fraught with monumental difficulties and almost prohibitive cost.

Atlanta should begin in time. The Peachtree, Ivy and Marietta streets and Georgia avenue regrading work marks a good beginning. But a comprehensive city plan must be devised and carried out.

A system of streets and parks and driveways in the outlying sections recently annexed can be agreed upon now with the least possible amount of friction and trouble. Later the work would present inconceivable difficulties. Streets, schools, water supply and a sewage system should be planned for now, even though actual work of development may be delayed for some years.

Mr. Bleckley wisely suggests a city commission to see that the city plan to be finally agreed upon, after full discussion and debate, is charged with authority to see that such a plan is carried out; that pavements to be laid, buildings to be erected, or public service equipment to be installed.

There is no use to play the ostrich in regard to such future needs, or to lay the flattering unction to our souls that the future will take care of itself. The experience of fifty other American cities speaks eloquently to the contrary.

APPEAL TO DEMOCRATIC OFFICIALS.

In order to raise the amount which Georgia has been called upon to contribute to help finance the democratic campaign which ends next Monday night, Hon. D. C. Pickett, a representative from Terrell county, suggests that each member of the state legislature contribute $10.

In a communication to The Constitution he says:

I feel sure that any man who is financially able to represent his county in the Georgia legislature, or his district in the state senate, can spare at least $10 to the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund. It looks indeed bad to see Georgia lagging behind.

Should Mr. Pickett's suggestion and example be followed, over $2,000 would thereby be added to the campaign fund, and no one contributor would miss the amount very much.

Under the present system of conducting national campaigns, speakers and brass-bands and headquarters, a vast amount of money is required. This can only be raised by contributions of loyal supporters.

Only one week remains before the fall of the ballots which will mean the defeat and possible annihilation of the old republican party. The national campaign committee has incurred obligations looking to the protection of the democratic interests, which must in honor be met. Hence the final appeal for contributions.

Let the dollars talk!

Acknowledgment is made to W. R. Bowen, of Fitzgerald, Ga., for $37.75 contributed in small amounts.

The battle is for democratic principles, and the democratic masses are expected to furnish the sinews of war.

"Just From Georgia"

In Peace and Plenty.

I.

Gettin' ready for Thanksgiving—Keep the fire burnin' bright; Sure, we'll thank the Lord we're livin', If there's nothin' else in sight! Ring it out from every steepie—let the bells the story tell: If there's peace an' plenty, people, we'll be doin' mighty well!

II.

Glad to greet a thankful season, an' the blessing, as they all, If we ever stop to count 'em—well, we jes' can't count 'em all! Folks across the sea air fightin'—an' they hear the battle-yell. But, with peace at home, good people, we're a-doin' mighty well!

III.

Trim the fire an' grease the griddle; Life's sweet honey's in the comb; Walk in with the old-time fiddle, an' jes' make yerself at home. Though this life has change an' trouble we'll be happy for a spell; When you're feelin' like a dancin' tune, ain't you doin' mighty well!

The Editor Takes Exercise.

"The doctor prescribed strenuous exercise for us," says The Billville Banner, "but it's hard that we have to cut wood for our wife to give a barbecue to the suffragettes. The last time they met in this town we nearly caught our death of cold from sleeping on the roof whilst they were in session, and if they had kept their word about 'bringin' down the house' we'd either been kilt outright or crippled for life."

And He Never Did Complain.

Don't want the millionaire's burden, Since he might want to vain; But still, if it comes, he'll bear it: He never did complain. The nights of the office. The heights of the hills to gain. But still, if it says it wants him—Well, he never did complain. An' I reckon when this life's story is told, with its peace an' pain, If they give him a crown in glory They'll never hear his complain.

A Nearly-Impossible Paragraph.

"The reason the most distinguished citizen in this town has not been seen on the streets for some time," says The Adams Enterprise, "is because he has been sitting up o' nights, with a force of hired clerks, returning campaign contributions. He says no influence must be brought to bear for him; that not on any account will he accept the office unless it roasts on his doorstep and captures him bodily. Such an instance is rare in politics, when some men actually want to be paid for not running."

Dangers of the Road.

The middle of the road's the place—The best for runnin' of a race; But runners still this word are mindin': "Watch out that the dust ain't hindin'!"

Heard By the Wayside.

"It's easy to keep up the fire when the other fellow's cutting the wood for it," says a philosopher, "but you'd feel far more comfortable if you'd sharpen your ax an' hit a few logs yourself."

Light—Life—Love.

I. Light, light, more light, dying great Goethe cries, So cry we all who grope with heart and mind. The light of life, of love, of truth, to find—And Goethe, dead, give thee what life denied?

II. He who hath love's light hath no need to cry For other light, or more than love can give. It is a sun to cheer us while we live, A star to guide us heavenward when we die.

III. Light, life and love, eternal trinity! "My soul," said I, "thou art best judge thereof." Which is divinest? And my soul said: "Love, For without love nor light, nor life would be."

HE HID IN A GRAVEYARD TO ESCAPE FROM WIFE

A graveyard was the hiding place of W. M. Putnam, a cotton mill hand, when the police hunted for him to make him return to his wife and four little children, whom he had deserted three weeks ago.

Putnam was arraigned in the recorder's court Monday morning and his wife and babes were present to face him. Mrs. Putnam said her husband left her three weeks ago with another younger and better looking woman.

The arresting officers said they found Putnam hiding in Oakland cemetery. Putnam promised to return to his family and take care of them and he was placed under the care of Probation Officer Coogler.

"SLEEP SICKNESS" CAUSES HACKMEN TO LOSE OUT

The police have discovered that several of the negro cab drivers are suffering from the "sleeping sickness." Two of them were arraigned in the police court Monday morning and were fined and ordered to quit "hacking."

Walter Daniel went to sleep on his cab Saturday night and fell out upon the street. He told the recorder that he was overcome with drowsiness and didn't know he was going to sleep. He was fined $5 and his badge and permit were taken from him.

Charlie Blakeley was found asleep on his cab while he was taking a passenger home. The arresting officer said that Charlie went to sleep nearly three hours on his cab. He was fined $3 and his badge and permit were taken away.

KAUL AND RODDY WILL TESTIFY AGAINST WREN

The trial of George Wren, last of the three Atlantans indicted for complicity in the Piedmont hotel diamond robbery, was postponed yesterday afternoon and set for the first case this morning.

George Kaul and Carl Roddy, who pleaded guilty to the robbery before the court and were sentenced to a year each in the penitentiary, will be the chief witnesses for the state. In their confession Wren was implicated. G. & P. Gilsey, from whom the $50,000 worth of diamonds were taken, arrived Sunday to prosecute the case.

Mrs. Wren, the mother of George Wren, and his aunt, Mrs. Mary Morris, who have been indicted on the charge of larceny, will be tried following the trial of Wren. The cases will be heard by Judge Price Edwards, of the Tallapoosa circuit, who is taking Judge L. S. Roan's place.

DECATUR CITIZENS WILL DISCUSS GOOD ROADS

Citizens of Decatur and vicinity will meet in the courthouse tonight at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the good roads movement of the Decatur Board of Trade, which was outlined in The Constitution Sunday, and the question of whether or not it would be advisable for Decatur to build a municipal gas plant.

Decatur realizes the importance of these two matters to the town and county and the interest in this meeting is widespread. As stated in Sunday's Constitution, the success of the good roads movement seems assured.

With a complete system of roads connecting Decatur with surrounding territory the only thing lacking to make Decatur truly ideal is gas. There is some sentiment in Decatur favoring certain the amount that the discussion tonight will be had.

The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock and will be interesting.

Isle of View.

Oh, Isle of View: Oh, Isle of View! An emerald set in ocean's blue. Across the waters deep and wide, My love waves—rides the ebbing tide.

Oh, Isle of View: Oh, Isle of View! Sun-kissed and bathed in Heaven's dew. In dreams I ship with silver oars, And anchor at the coming shores.

Oh, Isle of Hope: Oh, Isle of Hope! On point of view we'll meet no more. Adrift in life's deep seas of blue, "Oh, I love you! Oh, I love you!"

DEAD MAN, WIDOW AND OFFICER OWN AUTO, SAY INDICTMENTS

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(Special.) Today a novel criminal proceeding was started in the superior court here, when Hugh Boggs and John Willis Worley, two young white men from Decatur, Ala., were indicted for the slaying of an automobile that belonged to the Jasper E. Turner, whom they killed on the Augusta road fourteen months ago. When they were tried for the murder of which charge they were acquitted, Boggs and Worley admitted taking the automobile, fleeing to Ocala, Fla., and there selling it to G. H. Mills for $100. Falling to secure the punishment of the defendants for the homicide, the solicitor general will prosecute them on the larceny charge. The prosecution officers met a new position when he came to the larceny indictment against Boggs and Worley. He was at a loss to determine what to do with the automobile at the time it was stolen. Before he died, Turner owned it, but he had been slain when the theft was actually committed. His wife, Jennie Turner, eventually became owner of the car, but not until after she had taken out letters of administration upon her husband's estate, so there is a question whether she was the owner when it was stolen. A letter General Hardridge delivered through the Georgia decisions, but nothing on this point to guide him, so he fell back upon the old English common law, and alleged in the indictment that the car was stolen from the property of Turner, in one count, and in another count that the "life owned the automobile" in a third count that it was the property of Judge Henry McAlpin, the county ordinary. The latter was named on the idea that the personal property in a case like this would be his, pending the taking out of letters of administration on the estate of the deceased.

Mme. Sembrich Coming.

The announcement that Mme. Sembrich will appear in concert in Atlanta November 25 is one of more than usual interest, since she means to Atlanta many things.

She is the kind of singer whose audience would rise to her if she had no voice, and when it must come to her, people will be a long time finding it out, so consummate is her art, so strong her magnetic power.

In her every note she gives most generously of herself, and possibly that is why she enters so into the affections of those who hear her.

Her art is more than usually complete. She is musician as well as singer, and her success in concert has equaled her triumphs in opera. Consistency, intelligence, the training that is implied in a great career, a voice and a temperament that are the gift only of the few; these are some of the reasons why she is one of the most famous prima donnas in the history of music.

But, more than all, she makes people love her singing, herself. She takes them into her confidence and her friendship. She caresses them with her art—the art of the singer and of the woman.

Always her coming to Atlanta means a great occasion, socially as well as musically, and November 25 can be counted, therefore, as one of the most significant dates in a month of social festivity.

ATLANTA CLUB WOMEN TOLD OF CONDITIONS IN CHINA

It was refreshing to hear the very definite message brought by Dr. Lacey E. Moffat, a distinguished missionary from China, when at a meeting of the Atlanta Woman's club yesterday he instructed a representative group of women in telling them of the relation the missionary movement bears to the new republic.

Too often the missionary brings the indefinite message; the one which makes the American sympathizer and giver to wonder if, after all, the foreign missions accomplish all they set out to accomplish. Dr. Moffat comes with the inspiring word that not only have individual souls been converted, but Christianity has established the organization and the power which has made co-ordination of forces possible; no stronger illustration of this given than in the fact that 95 per cent of the native Chinamen who have framed the present constitution of the new republic are men who have been educated either at American or European schools, or in the schools established by the foreign missionaries in China.

Dr. Sen, whom Dr. Moffat declares is one of the greatest men of present-day China, and the one who made the new republic in China possible through arbitration rather than through war and bloodshed, is a graduate of Yale, and has been a close student of the republics of France and the United States.

At the same time the better element of the men seeking the freedom of China went, when the revolution was on, to lead them right. He was not elected or appointed, but put in the chair as president of the republic.

At the same time the men leading the old monarchial forces was put forward for the honors of leadership.

At the present moment in the revolutionary conflict, ten days of peace were asked for, that arbitration might be tried. It was Dr. Sen who asked for the truce, and who brought about the final adjustment, when he withdrew from the office to which his countrymen had called him, and urged upon the conflicting armies to make the leader of the monarchial forces the president of the new republic.

His power was such that not only did he bring about the adjustment, but he reconciled the antagonistic parties, made his followers believe in what he was doing, though he advised the election of the man who led their antagonists, and preferred rather to go about serving his country as the citizen than as the head of their national activities.

Dr. Moffat here briefly outlined the splendid policies of the new republic with their reform in educational methods, in their plan of legal procedure and finally their policies making for moral vigor and strength in the development of their republic. The lecture was one which would be inspiring not only in church and in school, but in the legislative halls, where, though we may feel in the United States the mother attitude toward the young republic of the Orient, it is a case where the mother can learn a great deal from the baby child.

The club women showed their appreciation of the lecture by a rising vote of thanks to Dr. Moffat and to Mrs. Ottley, who had invited him to the club.

Mrs. A. P. Coles, president of the club, presided, and Mrs. J. P. McGowan, the vice president of the club, introduced the speakers.

A charming young Chinese woman, who is studying kindergarten in Atlanta, followed Dr. Moffat in a brief talk. Mrs. Whithead, of College Park, read a bright paper dealing with current events, and there was a symposium of opinions about the recent state convention, to which a number of the members contributed.

Mayor Pro Tem. will be called on by Dr. Merritt to testify. Judge Candler made a visit to the sanitarium Sunday morning, and in an interview Monday declared that he was impressed with the management, particularly the economy practiced. He said that from his observations he believed the institution was capably managed, and that the city had received great value for the money it spent on the institution than on any other.

Roaches and bedbugs ARE FEWER CARRIERS

Washington, October 28.—Cockroaches and bedbugs are branded as carriers of typhoid fever germs by Surgeon R. R. Riggs, United States Navy. Experiments on the cruiser Newark sometime ago made Dr. Riggs suspicious of bugs in general, and of these two classes in particular. He tells of an outbreak of typhoid at a naval post on an isolated island where he was in charge of the water and food supply. Careful study revealed that cockroaches and bedbugs were distributors.

Swift & Company's sales of Fresh Beef in Atlanta for week ending Saturday, October 26, averaged 8.82 cents per pound.

How to keep your hair healthy

The health, the gloss and sheen of your hair depend wholly on the cleanliness of your scalp. To keep your scalp really clean, follow this method.

Before washing the hair, rub your scalp fully five minutes to loosen the dead skin. Then apply a hot lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it in thoroughly. Woodbury's softens the scalp, gently removes the crust, and stimulates the pores. If the hair is heavy, wash it twice with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then rinse in gradually cooler water, having the final water really cold. Follow this method regularly and in a short time your hair will show a marked improvement. Get a cake of Woodbury's today, and let the soap do the work for you. It is the most perfect hair cleanser in many other deluge of soaps.

ATLANTA MAY BUILD $1,500 STORM WALL

Some Action Must Be Taken Soon to Prevent Delay on Marietta Work.

The city will spend $1,500 to build a storm wall along the sidewalk extending the entire frontage of the property of the Joseph E. Brown estate, at Marietta street and Brady place, rather than have the work of widening the thoroughfare held up because of the refusal of the Georgia Railway and Power Company to spend $8,000 to move its tracks to the rear of the property, where they will meet Howell's Mill road.

Chief Clayton, of the construction department, is endeavoring to have the attorneys of the Brown estate to deed the strip to the city regardless of the attitude of the railway company. The city did not contemplate, at the time the profiles were made, that any serious trouble would arise. The Brown estate owns an irregular strip of land on the north side of the street. It starts at the point where Marietta street turns off to meet the approach to Howell Mill road, and goes off again and meets the street proper.

The tracks of the railway company pass on a straight line through the street in front of the property. The attorneys representing the Brown estate have notified the city that unless the railway company takes up the tracks and run in to the rear of the property, the strip required to make the sidewalk grade will not be deeded.

Cottolene

food is never greasy

Cottolene is a vegetable fat—made from the purest and choicest cotton oil. It contains not an ounce of hog fat.

Cottolene makes delicious pastry—crisp and flaky. For frying, it can be heated to a much higher temperature than butter or lard, and forms a coating which prevents the absorption of the fat.

Cottolene is every bit as good as, and much cheaper than butter for cooking. It is far better than lard; it is richer, and will go one third farther than either. It is the most economical cooking fat on the market.

$50,000 DAMAGES ASKED BY FAMILY

Seven Plaintiffs Claim Health Was Impaired by Eating Canned Beef.

Seven suits aggregating $50,000 filed recently in the Fulton superior court against Libby, McNeill & Libby, of Illinois, were yesterday transferred to the federal district court because of the non-residence of the defendant company.

G. A. Hall, his wife, his daughter and Thomas W. Dobbs, father of Mrs. Hall, with Mrs. Dobbs and two children of the Dobbs family, all of Fulton county, are the plaintiffs.

The papers set out that Libby, McNeill & Libby are makers of canned meats, labeled "Libby's Prime Roast Beef," that on June 18 Thomas W. Dobbs purchased some of the roast beef and that when it was served and eaten by the seven members of the family suing it made them deathly sick and has permanently impaired their health. G. A. Hall asks damages for himself in the sum of $5,000 and for his daughter, Marjory, the same amount, while his wife, Mrs. Julia Hall, herself sues for $10,000. Thomas W. Dobbs asks for $10,000 for himself, while suing as next friend for his son, Thomas W. Dobbs, Jr., he wants $5,000, and a similar amount for his daughter, for whom he sues also as next friend, another $5,000. Mrs. Carrie C. Dobbs, wife of Thomas W. Dobbs, puts her damages at $10,000, suing in her own name.

QUAKERS SHOUT FOR GOV. WILSON

prosperity of the country is not checked for a moment," he continued. "There is not a business man in the country who has a fear of interruption of his business unless he has been breaking the laws of the land and the laws of honor. I hope those men are afraid and that their fears will be justified."

The governor declared that the "old times, ancient subterfuges and worn-out cries about panics are not being seriously regarded by the thinking people of the country." He added that in the face of a certain democratic victory, the prosperity of the country is going on unimpeded.

Defeat Is Inconceivable.
Chicago, October 28.—"Defeat now is virtually inconceivable," declared Chairman McCombs, of the democratic national committee, in final weekly forecast. "Inside information," continues today's statement, "gives final proof that the party which polled more than 6,000,000 votes four years ago will poll nearly a third more than that this year, and the number will be made up of many republicans."

The Wilson manager warns his followers that they must not lay down arms until election is past.

THEATERS

"Louisiana Lou."

The fame of the turkey trot finale in the last act of "Louisiana Lou" preceded that comic opera to Atlanta, and one of the largest audiences of the season sat through the performance last night and seemed to enjoy it, and particularly the bewilderingly large chorus of pretty girls and the turkey trot.

Repeated encores greeted "The Puritan Prince," rendered by Miss Ann Chandler and the puritan maids, widows and men, which merged into the dance now generally barred by polite society, and proved fascinating and irresistibly appealing to the pit and the galleries.

Even after the lower part of the house had ceased to applaud, the galleries continued an uproar and compelled the chorus to continue its pageant of the turkey trot to the music of the popular rag. Such an elaborate display of feminine pulchritude has not been seen in Atlanta in some time.

But it was a weary wait for a large part of the audience, as the plot wound its way through a wilderness of words littered with noisy and dreary banalities. The humor of Jacob Lidofofski is not sparkling, but rather the humor of the medium class monologist on the vaudeville stage. The further indictment must be brought against him of unduly prolonging his scenes to the point of wearying an audience of quick perception.

Miss Caroline Leonard, as Gladys, the second wife of Lidofofski's partner, has an attractive stage presence and fully measured up to the small opportunities afforded her. She is a former Atlanta girl. Miss Cecelia Novasio, as Louisiana Lou, makes a pleasing picture, and her solo with Freddie Nio was well received. She lacks animation.

There is a notable absence of good voices in the cast, and some tuneful music was rather indifferently rendered. The "Jumping Jack" and the "Jaws and Gills" chorus work is acrobatic but not musical.

"Louisiana Lou" will be the attraction tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee Wednesday.

JOHN CORRIGAN, JR.
"The Traveling Salesman."

"The Traveling Salesman" breezed into town last night, and opened at the Lyric with a show that is not a breeze, but a gale—a regular hurricane of laughter from curtain to curtain.

This bright comedy portrays graphically the big-hearted, high-class type of man that has become to be typical of the modern traveling salesman, and shows in laughable manner all his trials and tribulations, from home-sickness to the difficulties of getting a life-saver in a "dry" town.

A merchant in the audience would almost expect Robert Lee Allen, as Bob Blake, the fat and jolly leading man, to step down off the stage and open negotiations for placing the order, so well does he act his part. Edward H. Clayton, as Franklin Royce, the villain, succeeds in stirring a cordial and highly complimentary hatred in the hearts of his audience. Vera Wadsworth, who plays the part of Beth Elliott, the pretty village maiden around whom the plot centers, is pretty and charming, and so natural in her role that one scarcely realizes that she is acting. These principals are supported by a strong company.

Bob Blake and three of his friends of the road land together in Grand Crossing and resign themselves to their fates of spending Christmas day in a 2 by 4 country town. Blake, however, meets Beth Elliott, who is "different," and early becomes aware that she has got badly "under his vest."

She is a good, wholesome girl, who is working to pay back taxes upon an estate which has been left her, and which will be sold the next day if the taxes are not paid. Franklin Royce, a former acquaintance of Blake's, is pretending love to Beth, and plots to get possession of her property, which he has learned will be wanted by a railroad at any price. In his drunken bragging, he lets the cat out of the bag before Blake, who, in a race against time, pays the taxes while Royce is still wooing the bottle, and baffles the plotters against his sweetheart in their last desperate effort to gain possession of the property by marrying the girl, and, as her husband, refusing to sign the deeds.

It is a good show.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Grand.)

The Bison Quartet and Sully and Hussey divide the comedy honors at the Forsyth theater this week. The quartet, now on its second visit to the city, made a bigger hit on Monday than on the first appearance. Every song seemed to meet with popular approval on Monday afternoon, and the closing number was a riot, calling for two encores.

Sully and Hussey had the audience screaming with laughter in the afternoon, but in the evening the people had a counter diversion, when the militia invaded the house to get several members who were needed for drill, and the act suffered. The number gets better and better, however, and the encore is just about the best the bill offers this week.

Mile. Minni Amato, in "The Apple of Paradise," telling a pantomime story of jealousy caused by the theft of a rose, and ending in a duel between two women, in which the man plays the peacemaker and receives a death wound, presents a most artistic number.

The dance in the first scene between Mile. Amato and the clown is wonderfully clever, and the act, as a whole, was very pleasing. This was proved by the fact that although last on the program, it held the restless Monday afternoon audience to the finish.

Dick the educated dog, proved his right to the name, and made good with a big "G."

Lloyd and Whitehouse, in "Just Vaudeville," drew many laughs, but the act is only fair, and a bit rough at times.

Kromka brothers, who open in acrobatic stunts, rank with the best of the week. Their good work was recognized by those in front, as encores showed.

Ethel MacDonald, delineator of popular songs, is a disappointment in all but her last song.

"Texas," (At the Forsyth.)

"Texas" is one of the good old frontier plays of "The Virginian" type, and its refreshing romance pleased the audience that greeted its first presentation last night at the Forsyth. Emma Bunting made her usual hit, being very much at home indeed in the role of a whimsical little tomboy of a western ranch, who was familiarly called by the cowboys "Texas."

POPULAR MEMBERSHIP ASKED BY MUSICAL ASSOCIATION

The campaign for a popular membership, begun yesterday by the Atlanta musical association, met with a response which was encouraging to the canvassers and promising for the year's work, the most auspicious feature of which will be a symphony orchestra.

Committees of the members, headed by Mrs. John M. Slaton, president, are trying the membership, not only of their personal friends, but of all Atlanta people who are known to have at heart the development of the city along the broadest lines, and the chairman of these committees are meeting at luncheon yesterday, today and tomorrow to compare results. Emphasis is being laid on the fact that new membership implies no obligation of work, but only the membership fee of $10 a year and a co-operative spirit with the purpose of the musical association.

This embodies the giving of school concerts and other educational features, as well as the permanence of the symphony orchestra, and the committees professed themselves pleased with what they have already accomplished.
